Why Implement Lean Manufacturing?

If you are considering implementing Lean Manufacturing or one of your customers is insisting that you go down this road you are probably asking yourself "what's in this for me?"

There are many companies that have implemented lean manufacturing and are singing its praises and claiming massive improvements and also companies that insist that they "have done lean" and gained nothing but problems from it!

But what is the truth? What are the benefits of lean manufacturing?

Lean Manufacturing has originated from the Toyota Production System (TPS), unarguably the most successful automotive manufacturer. Toyota consistently outsells any other manufacturer and its products top polls and surveys with regards to quality and reliability. They are also a profitable company unlike so many of their rivals facing bankruptcy around the world.

What Are The Actual Benefits Of Lean?

- Quality performance, fewer defects and rework (in house and at customer).
- Fewer Machine and Process Breakdowns.
- Lower levels of Inventory.
- Greater levels of Stock Turnover.
- Less Space Required.
- Higher efficiencies, more output per man hour.
- Improved delivery performance.
- Faster Development
- Greater Customer Satisfaction.
- Improved employee morale and involvement.
- Improved Supplier Relations.
- HIGHER PROFITS!
- INCREASED BUSINESS!
